

Anna Page

Anna Page is an Episcopal priest serving as an active-duty U.S. Army chaplain. Chaplain (Captain) Page currently serves with a battalion based out of Soto Cano Air Base, Honduras, where she is responsible for providing religious leadership and religious advisement. She previously served with units at Fort Bragg, North Carolina. Chaplain Page's academic interests include strategic peace building throughout the conflict continuum, and the ethics of community formation and leadership. She received her bachelor of arts in history from Wellesley College in Wellesley, Massachusetts, and her master of divinity from Duke Divinity School in Durham, North Carolina. Chaplain Page is currently pursuing her doctor of ministry in educational leadership from Virginia Theological Seminary.