

Barton Gellman, a Pulitzer Prize-winning journalist and author, is senior adviser to the president of the Brennan Center for Justice at NYU Law School. His focus is on building safeguards against threats to democracy.

Gellman is the author of Dark Mirror: Edward Snowden and the American Surveillance State and the best-selling Angler: The Cheney Vice Presidency.

Gellman came to the Brennan Center from The Atlantic. Before that he spent 21 years at The Washington Post, where he served tours as a legal, diplomatic, military, and Middle East correspondent.

He anchored the team that won the 2014 Pulitzer Prize for Public Service for coverage of the National Security Agency and Edward Snowden, and he was awarded the 2008 Pulitzer Prize for National Reporting for a series on Vice President Dick Cheney. In 2002, he was a member of the team that won the Pulitzer Prize for National Reporting for coverage of the 9/11 attacks and their aftermath.

Gellman graduated with highest honors from Princeton University and earned a master's degree in politics at Oxford University as a Rhodes Scholar.