

Massimo Calabresi is TIME's Washington Bureau Chief. He leads a team of editors and journalists covering domestic and international affairs, politics, climate, national security, and investigations. As a correspondent in the Washington bureau from 1999 to 2017, he covered the White House, Congress, the intelligence community, the State Department, the Treasury Department, the Justice Department and the Judiciary. He was TIME's Central Europe Bureau Chief from 1995 to 1999 where he covered the wars in Croatia, Bosnia and Kosovo. He began his career as a freelance reporter in Moscow, Russia in July 1991.