

Cynthia McFadden

Cynthia McFadden is the senior legal and investigative correspondent at NBC News. Prior to joining NBC, she worked for twenty years at ABC News, the last ten as the coanchor of Nightline. In addition to covering an array of legal issues, she has reported extensively on human rights and humanitarian issues around the world. She has reported from hot spots around the world including Madagascar, Bangladesh, Central African Republic, Bosnia, El Salvador, China, Israel, South Africa, Liberia, India, and Sierra Leone.

McFadden's work has been recognized with many of broadcasting's top awards, including Emmy, duPont, Peabody, Overseas Press Club, Edward R. Murrow, and Loeb awards. McFadden earned a BA from Bowdoin College and a JD from Columbia University. Bowdoin also recognized her with an honorary degree in 2013.