John Hultquist

John Hultquist is the vice president of intelligence analysis at Mandiant and an adjunct professor at Georgetown University. He is the founder of CYBERWARCON. Previously, Hultquist served as the director of cyber espionage analysis at iSIGHT Partners. Prior to that, he worked as an intelligence analyst working with the U.S. government and industry information sharing and analysis centers. He is an Army veteran and a graduate of Maryville College.