

Carter A. Malkasian

Dr. Carter Malkasian was the special assistant for strategy to the chairman of the Joint Chiefs of Staff, General Joseph Dunford from 2015 to 2019. He has extensive experience working in conflict zones, especially Afghanistan and Iraq, and has published several books. The highlight of his work in conflict zones was nearly two years in Garmser district, Helmand province, Afghanistan, as a State department political officer.

His newest book is The American War in Afghanistan: A History. His 2013 book, War Comes to Garmser: Thirty Years of Conflict on the Afghan Frontier, won the 2014 silver medal for the Council on Foreign Relations' Arthur Ross book award. Other books include Illusions of Victory: The Anbar Awakening and the Islamic State, A History of Modern Wars of Attrition, and The Korean War, 1950-1953.

Malkasian received his undergraduate degree from the University of California, Berkeley and completed his doctorate in history at Oxford University. He speaks Pashto.
