

Marc Levinson

Marc Levinson is an independent historian and economist who has written extensively on international trade and logistics. A former senior fellow at the Council on Foreign Relations, he also served as finance and economics editor of The Economist, worked as an economist at J.P. Morgan Chase, and managed transportation and industry research at the Congressional Research Service. His seven books include the award-winning history The Box: How the Shipping Container Made the World Smaller and the World Economy Bigger and Outside the Box: How Globalization Changed from Moving Stuff to Spreading Ideas, both published by Princeton University Press.