

Tara Hariharan

Tara Hariharan is managing director of Global Macro Research at NWI Management LP, a New York-based global macro hedge fund with an emphasis on emerging markets. As head of macro research for the firm since 2012, Hariharan focuses on economic activity, macro-political trends and policy in the U.S. and China and is a keen student of European political economy. She directs top-down analysis of macroeconomic data, monetary and fiscal policy and political trends for countries and regions worldwide, and well as maintenance and constant evolution of NWI's "macro dashboard" with a strategic focus on potential investment opportunities in fixed income, equities, foreign exchange and commodities. Her analysis is notably informed by sustained dialogue with a diverse group of high-level global policymakers in both developed and emerging markets.

Hariharan earned a bachelor's degree in Anthropology summa cum laude from Princeton University in 2007. She was elected a member of the board of directors of the American Council on Germany in 2022 after having been a 2016 American Young Leader, and was awarded a 2014 American Marshall Memorial Fellowship by the German Marshall Fund of the United States. Hariharan has been a term member at the Council on Foreign Relations since 2017. She is also closely involved with the U.S. Chamber of Commerce, and has been a member since summer 2020 of the Chamber's Chief Economists' Committee. She was elected a member of the Inter-American Dialogue in July 2021, and is a 2022 Economic Club of New York Fellow.
