

Tara Hariharan

Tara Hariharan is director of global macro research at NWI Management LP, a global macro hedge fund based in New York. As head of macro research for the firm, she directs top-down analysis of macroeconomic data, monetary and fiscal policy, and political trends for countries and regions worldwide, as well as the maintenance and constant evolution of NWI's "macro dashboard" with a strategic focus on potential investment opportunities in fixed income and foreign exchange. Her analysis is notably informed by sustained dialogue with a diverse group of high-level global policymakers in both developed and emerging markets.

Hariharan was awarded a 2014 American Marshall memorial fellowship by the German Marshall Fund of the United States and was selected as a 2016 American Young Leader by the American Council on Germany. She is also closely involved with the U.S. Chamber of Commerce, and has been a member since summer 2020 of the Chamber's chief economists' committee. She earned a bachelor's degree in anthropology from Princeton University.
